

Where to Publish Instructional Research?

General Science Education Journals

Science (American Association for the Advancement of Science)

<http://www.sciencemag.org/>

Journal of Science Teacher Education

<http://www.springer.com>

The Journal of Science Teacher Education is the official journal of the Association for Science Teacher Education. It serves as a forum for disseminating research and theoretical position statements concerning the preparation and in-service education of science teachers. It adds to what we know about science teaching and learning and, most importantly, serves as a catalyst for thoughtful discussion concerning the enhancement of education for science teachers.

International Journal of Science Education

<http://www.tandf.co.uk>

Designed to bridge the gap between research and practice, providing information, ideas and opinion. It serves as a medium for the publication of definitive research findings. Special emphasis is placed on applicable research relevant to educational practice, guided by educational realities in systems, schools, colleges and universities.

Electronic Journal of Science Education

<http://ejse.southwestern.edu/>

The Electronic Journal of Science Education is a peer reviewed journal sponsored and published by Southwestern University. EJSE publishes manuscripts relating to science education/science teacher education issues from early childhood through the university level and informal science and environmental education. EJSE reviews original science education manuscripts that report meaningful research, present research methodology, develop theory, and explore new perspectives.
